MUSCLE SHOALS MUST GO TO FORD, SAYS CAPPER

SENATOR CAPPER SAYS HENRY FORD MUST DEVELOP MUSCLE SHOALS

If the Republican Party Is To Remain in Power At Washington

MUST FINISH PROGRAM SAYS KANSAS SENATOR

Securities, Stocks, Freights, Credits, Marketing, and
Other Matters Touched

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The program for constructive legislation coupled with the declaration against the administration ship subsidy bill,
was announced by Senator Capper, Republican, of Kansas, chairman of the Senate Farm Bloc, in his statement today upon his return for the opening of Congress.

If the Republican party is to continue in power, said Senator Capper,
it must finish a constructive program, including the following acts:

It must put the development of the Muscle Shoals project in the hands of Henry Ford.

Put through the complete rural credit program to provide farmers and stockmen with an adequate financial system.

It must reduce freight rates.

It must give the states control over state freight rates, and repeal other objectionable features of the transportation act.

It must carry out a policy of a better system of marketing.

It must make undisturbed surpluses and stock dividends pay their share toward the maintenance of government. It must pass a constitutional amendment prohibiting tax exempt securities.

Shrine-Kiwanis Show Nets $160

The Shrine-Kiwanis entertainment of Wednesday night, when the Grosjean Marimba Xylophone Company delighted a large audience at the Princess Theatre, has netted the charity fund of the Kiwanians and Shriners upward of $160, according to J. W. Clopton, who made the final settlement with the visiting artists.

Labor Sect'y Wants Strikes Averted

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 18.—
James G. Davis, secretary of labor, in an address opposed strikes on the theory that they could be averted by a mutual understanding upon the part of labor and capital. He advocated a strict emigration law.

Royal Welcome To The "Tiger"

(Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—George Clemenceau, Tiger of France, today set foot on American soil. The "tiger" came as a private citizen, but no potentate has ever been extended a more royal welcome.

Official Returns Port Amendment

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 18.—
When Mobile, Crenshaw and Lamar counties have filed their reports, citizens of Alabama may know what majority they gave to the seaport amendment in the general election
Nov. 7. A check completed by W. P.
Fonville, chief clerk of the department of state, today showed that all counties, with the exception of three,
had made their official returns.

MURRAY MEMORIAL MEET AT PRINCESS SUNDAY AFTERNOON TO HONOR DEAD

Much Interest Manifest In Proposed Tribute to Beloved Physician

BIG CROWD IS EXPECTED AT THE MEETING

Morgan County Medical Society
Invite All to Attend At 3 P. M.

Memorial services for the late Dr.
M. W. Murray will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Princess Theatre, under the auspices of the Morgan County Medical Society.

Since the announcement was made,
great interest has been evidenced in the plan which are now matured, and there will no doubt be a large audience on hand when the services are held.

It is also quite certain that some concrete evidence of the love and esteem in which this splendid physician and citizen was held, will be perfected at this time. A plan which has met with general approval and has been largely commended is the erection of a wing to Benevolent Hospital, bearing the name of the late physician and humanitarian.

Quite certain it is that whatever is done by those in charge of the memorial effort, it will be a fitting testimony to the services of the one who labored long and well. The announcement follows:

"The Morgan County Medical Society will have a M. W. Murray memorial meeting next Sunday afternoon at the Princess Theatre at 3 o'clock. The public is invited to attend. Through a misunderstanding, the meeting, which was to have taken place last Sunday, had to be postponed, but all arrangements have been completed for next Sunday af-

tey, Dr. John Bragg."

Governor Will Appoint Successor

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 18.—
Judge Milo B. Abercrombie, probate
judge of Macon County for 24 years,
elected for another term of six years
Nov. 7 and one of the oldest figures in politics in Alabama, died at his home at Tuskegee Friday. Report of his death reached the capitol Friday afternoon.

Judge Abercrombie had been in bad health for more than one year, and many months ago his recovery was considered improbable, but he rallied and was able to resume his duties.

Judge Abercrombie had been interested in politics of Alabama since his early manhood and entered the office of the probate judge before he was grown. After his election as probate judge the first time, no one over-thought he could be defeated, and during a great part of his service
he was re-elected every six years without opposition.

Governor Kilby will appoint Judge Abercrombie's successor, who will serve until the general election in November, 1924.

hal Knight being elected president.
The Masonic is being much improved

tion by the opening date, which is proposed for December 15, decoration and paint being used to the amount of several thousand dollars in rehabilitating this popular place of amusement. One of those interested states presentation of the spoken drama and pictures will be offered the public that will be first-class in all respects.

One million members are now enrolled in the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union and everywhere women's interest in that organization is becoming daily more widespread, according to the report of Miss Anna A. Gordon, national president of the W. C. T. U., given at the Chambers-Wylie Memorial church, Philadelphia, at the convention.

"During the past year 2,000 new local unions have been formed in the United States, and the work of the W. C. T. U. because of its many and varied activities is ever-widening and making itself felt with increasing force," said Mrs. Frances P. Parks, corresponding secretary of the National W. C. T. U. in commenting on the membership growth particularly noted since the beginning of the Jubilee Membership campaign which ends in 1924.

Many of the international delegates to the World W. C. T. U. convention held in the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, have remained for the National convention. Miss Evangeline

Booth will make the feature address
at the closing session of the convention on November 19. Commissioner Roy Haynes and Miss Jane Addams will be leading speakers during the conference sessions.

The officers of the National W. C.
T. U. are: Miss Anna A. Gordon, president; Mrs. Frances P. Parks, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Margaret Munroe, treasurer; Mrs. Ella Boole,
vice president; Mrs. Sara H. Hoge, and Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Anderson, secretaries.

BAPTIST CONVENTION CLOSED ANNUAL SESSIONS ON FRIDAY

Delegates from this section are back from Cullman, where they attended the annual session of the state Baptist convention, and report that five or six hundred people were in-attendance, counting both delegates and visitors. According to Drs. Wilks and Davidson, the most progressive move of the convention was the decision to appoint a lay delegate secretary, to travel throughout the state, giving his whole time to the work.

The matter was discussed at length
at the state convention here last year
as to the wisdom of putting men on committees, who were already busy on other committees was definitely decided, it being agreed that under no circumstances should workers on committees, held two appointments.
Dr. Davidson said that Mr. and Mrs.
J. E. Lambdin, of Montgomery, state
B. Y. P. U. secretaries, will arrive in Decatur tomorrow morning to conduct the annual training school of the Baptist young people of Morgan County. The session will be held each evening at the Decatur Baptist Church. Mr. Lambdin will speak at 11 a. m. A meeting for organization will be held at 3 p. m., when all the young people are expected to be present to be assigned to classes which will meet each evening next week,
from Monday to Friday. Besides Mr.
and Mrs. Lambdin, Pastors Wilks, Stuckey and Walker will teach classes. A large attendance is expected for the Baptist churches of the county.

Hall-Mills Deaths Still Being Probed

(Associated Press.)
NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 18.
Evidence that the relations of the Rev. Edward R. Hall and Mrs. Elinor
Mills, were discussed by Mrs. Hall and members of the ministers congregation, for some time before the slay-ing of the couple, has been given to the authorities by a member of the church of St. John the Evangelist of which Mr. Hall was rector, it was stated here today.

The investigators believe that this testimony will strengthen the case
they are to present to the grand jury next week. This church member has stated to the authorities, that the attention paid by Mr. Hall to Mrs.
Mills was noticed on at least one occasion by Mrs. Hall. In a recent interview, Mrs. Hall declared that she had not noted anything in the friendship of her husband and Mrs. Mills that alarmed her.

A resolution was adopted accepting the report of the monument commit-

Ford applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission today for authori-

The commission was asked to approve an issue of one million dollars in investment certificates which will be sold to employees for cash, in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000.

LA FOLLETTE AFTER DEFEAT OF SHIP SUBSIDY AND THE ANTI-STRIKE BILLS

Progressive Program Proposed
By The Wisconsin
Senator

FORMING THIRD PARTY IS NOT INDICATED

Says People's Mandate Cannot Be Ignored and Action Is Necessary

(Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 18.—
Immediate mobilization of the Progressive members of congress to work for a well defined program, was proposed by Senator LaFollette, republican of Wisconsin today, in a statement urging among other things, defeat of the Ship Subsidy bill, and defeat proposed railroad anti-strike legislation.

The time has come, he said, for the organization of the well defined group
co-operating in support of exceptive progressive principles and policies.

Senator LaFollette did not indicate that he favored the organization of a third party, which he said could not be accomplished by a group of men getting together and passing resolutions.

Ultimately there will be a line of cleavage, separating the conservatives and progressives said Senator
LaFollette, but you cannot hasten it.
But when it will come no man knows.
I am not chasing any will o' the wisps.

A situation has been created which to my mind calls for definite action upon the part of the congress. The people have given them a mandate which cannot be ignored.

APPOINTED SENATOR ARRIVES AT CAPITAL TO OBTAIN SEAT IN HIGH BODY

"Will Blaze the Road for the Womanhood of America"

NO AGGRESSIVE FIGHT WILL BE MADE

Mrs. Felton, If Seated, Would Be Member of Body Sing-
gle Day

(Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Mrs.
W. H. Felton, appointed senator from Georgia, pending election of a successor to the late Senator Watson,
arrived here today with the announced intention of obtaining a seat in the senate "so as to blaze the road for the womanhood of America." She added, however, that she was too old to make an aggressive fight for the place to which Walter F. George was elected Nov. 7. Mr. George obtained his certificate of election day at Atlanta, and expected to arrive here Monday in time for the convening of the senate. He has announced his willingness to admit Mrs. Felton to occupy the seat for a single day if that could be done legally.

Will Mrs. Felton Get Senate Seat?

(Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Vice-President Coolidge will meet the senate rules committee late this afternoon, to discuss rules procedure Mon-

Heffner Will Be Confined Sometime

The escape of Messrs. Heffner, Brock and Aldridge from fatal results, when, on Thursday night, their automobile ran into a truck on the Bee Line Highway between here and Athens, was described today by Mr.
Aldridge as "simply miraculous."

"Unless Mr. Heffner and myself had acted quickly and braced ourselves for the shock we would have been thrown forward with fatal results
when we struck the oncoming vehicle."

Mr. Aldridge was able to be up when seen at his hotel today, after a stay in bed yesterday. He stated that bruises about his head, back and lower limbs were painful, but that he hoped to go about his duties Monday. He declared that the flowers sent him, and the kind attentions shown him by all the people at the hotel, would ever remain happy memories. Mr. Aldridge lives in Memphis and travels out of Chicago.

Mr. Heffner may be laid up several weeks from his injuries. His left knee cap is crushed, and his right knee also badly bruised. He spent a restless night, but was reported as resting easy today. J. P. Brock, who occupied a back seat in the car when the crash came, escaped with only minor injuries and is about his duties as usual.

Resident of Thirty Years Ago Here

J. C. Percival, of Louisville, Ky., was here yesterday on business connected with the L. & N. Railroad.
Thirty years ago Mr. Percival was secretary of the Decatur Mineral and Land Company and is remembered as one of the most popular and capable men of his time. Many years have elapsed since his residence here, and his renewal of old friendships with those dear in years gone by was the special feature of his visit. With Judge John C. Eyster and Col. C. C.
Harris and other associates of the '80s, Mr. Percival enjoyed happy times in reminiscence, as did his old friends.

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FOR'S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

AMERICANS MAY RENEW THEIR FAITH, FOR THE FUTURE IS IN THEIR HANDS.

A remarkable scene was enacted in front of the house on S street in Washington, occupied by former President Woodrow Wilson Saturday. As a tribute to the man who had given his health and his strength to a cause vital to the people of America, a great throng of admirers gathered in front of his home on the anniversary of Armistice day, as testimonial to him and as an evidence that, though he may be broken in health and out of public sight, they do not consider him out of the public mind.

To the three thousand or more who tendered him the ovation Saturday, Mr. Wilson spoke briefly and upon the subject nearest his heart. Militantly he declared that the senators who are keeping the United States out of the League of Nations are not friends of the government. "They do not represent the United States," he said, "because the United States is moving forward and they are slipping backward. Where their slipping will end, God only will determine."

The optimistic man who bore the brunt of the attack when making of peace was a herculean task, declared: "I think we may renew today our faith in the future, though we are celebrating the past. The future is in our hands and if we are not equal to it the shame will be ours and none others."

In the course of his talk, Mr. Wilson said: "America has always stood for justice and always will stand for it. Puny persons who are now standing in the way will presently find that their weakness is no match for the strength of a moving Providence."

Mr. Wilson has faith that the United States yet will join the nations of the earth in making permanent peace assured. His faith is typical of his character. It is a faith that will bear fruit. He still is infirm from illness, but he is infirm only in a physical way. Mentally he is the same Wilson who stood as a bulwark against encroachments upon world liberty, and the same Wilson who won the gratitude of the civilized world for the splendid service he rendered to humanity at a time when chaos threatened civilization.

Mr. Wilson may not again enter politics. He probably does not wish to do so, but Mr. Wilson still exerts and will continue to exert a powerful influence upon public thought in America and throughout the world on all questions affecting the public good, and that influence will be felt in America more than ever before when those who for selfish and political reasons, oppose the policies he stands for, have been sent back to private life, as assuredly they will be.

Mr. Wilson's talk on Saturday was a timely one. It came at a time when the voters of this country had registered their disapproval of the present administration in the most crushing political defeat within the power of the people to administer. The American people are beginning to realize the blunders that have kept this country out of the League of Nations have been blunders of an incompetent administration, and they are ready to replace that administration with one which will more nearly represent the sentiment of the heart of America.—Anniston Star.

A GLORIOUS PROMISE.

Professional spirit was not known in the personal journalism of fifty years ago; it is found with difficulty in the transition period of the 90's and first decade of this century; but it is here today and growing lustily. Newspapers have been groping for firm ground in their relations with the public in these post-war years. Their old standards, or methods in default of standards, have been abolished by the stern hand of economics and the newspaper which eked out a living a few years ago with the help of the party treasury, county printing, and subservience to advertisers, can't find readers today. Journalism which has not for its creed the public service is bankrupt.

Editors have accepted, yea welcomed, the new mandate. Their question is "how may it best be done?" And that question is as the riddle of the Sphinx. As Caspar S. Yost told the University Press Club of Michigan recently, journalism is virtually bookless. The editor has no Blackstone, no Hippocrates, no St. Augustine to tell him how his forefathers would have met a situation. There are few books, even poor ones, which touch upon the practice of journalism. Such books that do hesitatingly refer to newspaper ethics are for the most part written by men who have never faced the editor's problems except in their dreams. In journalism has it been especially true that "those who can, do; those who can't, tell others how in books."

There is need for the critical history of journalism whose main headings Mr. Yost so skillfully sketched for the Michigan editors. It will be a work of love, but the man who writes it will have the gratitude of his colleagues and his name will go down the ages with the fathers of other professions. Today the only approach to a store of editorial knowledge for the profession is through the files and libraries of its trade papers, and this is of comparatively recent origin. The younger generation of newspaper men have seen the gradual transition in Editor & Publisher and other forward-looking trade journals of the field from the mere chronicling of personal items and business changes to the exposition and discussion of topics that have a purely professional appeal. Scarcely a week passes that the store of knowledge in the files of Editor & Publisher is not tapped by editors and managing editors in all parts of the country who want to know how others have dealt with situations that now confront them.

This betokens healthy thought among the men upon whom the public depends for vital information. It augurs well for the future usefulness of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, of which Mr. Yost is president. It presages that someone yet unknown will write his name in letters of gold as the newspaper Blackstone. And it is a source of gratification to Editor & Publisher that it sensed the rising of the new journalism and is serving it in its infancy.

The promise of journalism as a profession is glorious. With standards of practice rigidly written and sternly enforced, it will continue to draw to its ranks the kind of men whose achievements and personal sacrifices have dignified it in the past, and it will brand as unworthy those whose first end is service of selfish and not public interest. It will be a profession which Editor & Publisher will strive with pleasure to serve to the limit of its ability—Editor and Publisher.

MALE AND FEMALE.

We don't pretend to understand this item of news Mrs. Jean Kate Foulke Browne, of Pennsylvania, niece of Thomas F. Bayard, former ambassador to Great Britain, has filed a suit for divorce against Herbert Jarvis Browne, late captain U. S. A., all because she failed to be elected to the Legislature, in a fight in which her husband was her campaign manager.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger indicates that her manager at one point in the campaign made a bonehead play. He attacked the war record of Captain Whittaker, his wife's opponent. Immediately, we are told, the tide turned against Mrs. Browne, and all the speeches which her faithful, humble-toting husband could make in her behalf could not save her.

THE "WETS" ARE WHISTLING

In claiming big gains in Congress as a result of the recent elections, the "wets" evidently are whistling to keep up their courage. As a matter of fact, they lost more than they gained.

The prohibition question was really an issue in three important states, Ohio, Illinois and California.

In Ohio, as is well known, the voter declined to endorse a so-called light wines and beer measure. The Ohio voters are satisfied with the present prohibition regulations. In fact the issue entered into the outcome of the senatorial race. Fess, the republican winner, is an out and out prohibitionist, while Senator Pomerene, defeated democrat, had voted against the submission of the eighteenth amendment.

In Illinois, the voters favored a light wine and beer measure. But the fact that it was coupled with a soldier bonus provision, and was designed to raise revenue for the payment of the bonus had much to do with the success of the wine and beer project.

The surprise of the election however, was furnished by California, as has been the case several times in the past. California was heralded far and wide as a thoroughly "wet" state. The big grape and wine interests there were supposed to control sentiment. And yet, last Tuesday a majority of California voters endorsed a rigid prohibition enforcement act which is said to go further than the Volstead act.

And so, after all, Old John Barley-corn still has a headache as the result of last week's elections.—Gadsden Journal.

We should and can play the game even if it is nothing more than mumblepeg.

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS FOR SABBATH AND OTHER DAYS

By J. E. Blair

We say the world lacks leadership; we had best say the world of men and women needs Prophets. People need to be spoke to; not led. In late years especially, it has been demonstrated that followings are very difficult to obtain; and in the last analysis such a state of affairs should exist. For wrongs have greatly abound where great but not good leadership flourished. Nearly every war of the past, was a crime, committed in the name of loyalty to leadership. And the trouble is, the unreliable—the rabble will follow too easily. They even followed Christ as long as He was a leader—but in His exalted place as "prophet and priest and king" of the heart, the rabble not only refused to side with Him, but they took up stones to Kill the Son of God! To put it bluntly—intelligent, true men and women will never submit to mere leadership. Such people have to be told—they have to be cited! In a word, people who realize their kinship to God, must have the "Kingdom of that is within you," appealed to. You can lead a swine from her wallow, if you have the corn; but you cannot toll men around even if you have the "corn" and the coin! You might pet the dog spoken of in the Bible away from his vomit; but mere kindness will not inveigle people away from sin! People have to have things put up to them stiff, like Bob Jones does, if "the wicked forsakes his way and the unrighteous man his thoughts." Men have to be prophesied at; and preached to, straight from the shoulder, if they ever take up their crosses and walk in newness of life! Who ever saw a parent get anywhere with his child, who depended on petting and leading him? And there is a lot else to making new creatures in Christ out of children, besides the parents "making companions of them"! A lot of children who for good reasons will turn down the companionship of mere earthly people, will gladly accept the companionship of God Himself. Christ believed this when He asked that little children be allowed to come to know Him, and denounced those hard headed people who would have driven them from His blessed presence! Of course, it is human leadership, that is being spoken lightly of; God Himself can and desires to "lead us in paths of righteousness for His Name's sake." But note, it was never said of Christ Himself, that He was a great leader. The Bible says of Him, instead that never man SPOKE—or prophesied as He did. The present response to the needs of the Red Cross shows humanity is sound at the core! Humanity is full of expectancy.

W. T. Bost a news writer and a modern prophet says "A prophet is needed to restate eternal verities." Whomsoever knows the truth, but won't tell it shall be beaten with many stripes. As regards prophets, has the time of the Psalmist come again who said "for there is not a Prophet among you"? Has the Shechinah departed from Israel?

UNIVERSITY ON WHEELS BRINGS EDUCATION TO FARM DOORS

LECTURE IN A CAR

WINNIPEG, MAN. — Several hundred purebred bulls of both beef and dairy breeds were distributed to the farmers of Western Canada during May by a special stock improvement train, which was also an agricultural college on wheels, run over the lines of the Canadian National Railways.

The bulls were carried free of charge by the railway and sold on credit to the farmers. This movement for the improvement of live stock was conducted by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Manitoba Department of Agriculture, Manitoba cattle breeders' associations, the Winnipeg Livestock Exchange and the packing companies.

Loans equaling half the price of the animals were advanced to the purchasers by the Manitoba Department of Agriculture, secured lines that are rapidly coming to the fore as centers of livestock producing districts. Livestock men regard this distribution of purebred sires as one of the most important movements for the improvement of Western Canadian cattle ever undertaken.

The train was equipped with lecturers, motion pictures, farming literature for distribution, and facilities for demonstrating the stockyard value of different types of animals and other educational activities. Representative breeders of each breed accompanied the train

AMERICAN SPEED IN BOXING DISMAYS THE
FOREIGN BATTLERS

(Associated Press.)

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—Boxing has become so popular in Germany that the American system of matinee programs has been adopted. Some 10,000 "fans" crowded the Sports Palace at each of two recent bills, and it was stated the demand would have been even greater had it not been for the fact that the bouts were staged in the evening and many suburbanites were kept away by the difficulty of getting midnight trains home.

Americans here are interested in the outcome of a challenge which Hans Breitenstraeter, Germany's heavyweight champion, had lodged with an American boxer, Samson, who provided the sensation of the evening in his Berlin debut recently. Samson is reputed to have been a sparring partner of Jack Dempsey, and to have made good showings against such fighters as Tom Gibbons and "Kid" Norfolk.

Samson surprised the spectators by showing a speed and an aggressiveness greatly contrasting with the sluggish maneuvers of the native talent. Although twenty pounds lighter than Hugo Podzuhn (175), a Bavarian of considerable ring experience in Germany, the American knocked his opponent down so often in the two opening rounds that the latter's seconds saved their fighter from the other eight rounds by throwing in the towel. Breitenstraeter, who was at the ringside, immediately issued a challenge to the winner and it was accepted.

Americans who attended this program found highly amusing two other bouts on the bill. In one of these a flabby, 150-pound boxer who has become somewhat of a local favorite, as German pugilistic standards go, put up a comic-opera opposition to a lighter man, engaging many enthusiasts who had been expecting a stiff battle. After stolidly stalking about the ring for eight rounds with little or no guard to ward off a rain of punches which lacked knockout effectiveness, the favorite blantly walked over to his corner, giving up the fight. He was greeted with a bouquet of roses from an admirer.

A Dutch boxer, understood to have a fair reputation behind him, figured in the windup as a substitute for the Italian Spalla, who was prevented from appearing because of illness. After keeping the audience, and a huge German opponent impatiently waiting ten minutes for him to enter the ring, the Hollander appeared, attended by an imposing retinue of assistants. His opponent landed several stiff blows early in the fight, and thereafter the visitor fled in panic from one corner of the ring to another until the towering German caught up with him long enough to secure a knockout in the first round. The crowd sympathized, laughed and protested in turn.

Woman Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Makes This Offer

Cumberland, Md.—"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was thirteen and fourteen years old and was going to school, because I suffered with pains and could not rest. I did not have any more trouble after that until I was married, then I always was troubled in my back while carrying a child and could not do my work until I took the Vegetable Compound. I am strong, do all my washing and ironing and work for seven children and feel fine. I always have an easy time at childbirth and what it did for me it will do for other women. I am willing to answer any woman if she will write asking what it did for me."—Mrs. JOHN HEIER, 53 Dilleys St., Cumberland, Md.

During girlhood and later during motherhood Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought relief to Mrs. Heier. Her case is but one of many we constantly publish recommending our Vegetable Compound. She is willing to answer your letter. Write to her.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—"Going home to vote" breaks up a good many New York City circles, in which various individuals have lived here only a year or so and have not yet given up that last tie on their former home. visitors farther away than usual this year. For it seems that elections are held as important even outside of these United States. The Earl of Granard, son-in-law of Ogden Mills, who with his wife is spending a few months with her family in town, sailed on our own election morning to cast his vote in the House of Lords for the ratification of the Irish constitution. "Every friend of Ireland must be there," the Earl explained, when friends asked how he could leave New York before knowing certainly whether his brother-in-law was to be returned to Congress. Lady Alan Johnstone, sister of Gifford Pinchot, sailed on the same steamer in order to get back and electioneer for her son, running for parliament. "The election of my brother is assured," she said, "while that of my son, who is a Coalition-Liberal, is quite a different matter."

The uprising of the men! It has come at last. The Bill of Rights for married men, the latest organization pronouncement in this much married city. Edward Bonns, William R. Ferguson and Hugh J. Connelly have applied for a charter for what they call the "Association of Brothers Under the Skin," and in the list of the association objects, they declare their intention to protect the husband from housework; to insure certain evenings of the week for lodge meetings, clubs, and business; and to give him the right to determine the length of his wife's skirts, and of her hair; and to prevent any "reference, however justified, by the wife to any past faults or deficiencies of the husband."

The city's newest "Latin Quarter"

Hearty Meet On Issue of Bonds

The $20,000 school bond sale proposed for and by Athens citizens, for the purpose of erecting a new wing to the high school building there, is assured, according to R. H. Walker, chairman of the city board of education.

Mr. Walker bases his opinion upon the hearty action taken by a mass meeting of Athens citizens held at the Masonic Temple last night, when without effort a fourth of the desired amount was pledged.

Preceding the discussion of the advisability of local people taking the bonds, rather than attempting to sell them to outsiders, an excellent dinner was served, and a social good time was enjoyed.

When the covers were removed, D. L. Rosenau, president of the Athens Commercial Club assumed the role of toastmaster, and announced the speakers regularly assigned. In addition to these speakers, interesting addresses were made by other prominent citizens.

Col. M. K. Clements responded to the toast: "It Shall Be Done." The speaker pointed out what an economic advantage would be gained by school bonds being bought by local citizens, and also said that for sentimental reasons it was best to have the bonds sold to people of the community.

W. E. Willis, of the County Board of Education, spoke encouragingly of the proposed enterprise, and explained ways and means.

Dr. B. B. Glasgow, president of Athens College, as announced previously, spoke on "The Child's Education."

Mayor C. W. Sarver explained in a businesslike and direct manner "Athens' Duty to Her Children."

Mr. Walker, in behalf of the board of education, remained his hearers of what had already been accomplished, and called attention to the fact that the past put all good people under lasting obligations to the future.

How They Proceeded.

When pledges were asked, it was stated that the architect engaged to plan the new building had agreed to

is up in the Columbia University district. It began with the students, of course, and when high rents began driving the artists and writers out of Greenwich Village, they found an atmosphere already created in the university neighborhood which had something of the same "village quality, and they began to drift into it, until today, lopsided tam-o'-shanters and highly frescoed, informal restaurants, demonstrate the advance toward the effecting of a new "Quarter."

Seven hundred per cent increase in the biggest single item in the cost of living hits people pretty hard. Certainly one wouldn't expect it to develop within ten years' time. Yet there are apartment buildings in Manhattan where the cost of one small apartment has jumped from $40 to $300 since 1912.

However keenly people may feel in politics nowadays, they won't decorate themselves for its sake as they used to do. Down in Ann Street, the headquarters for all sorts of celluloid buttons, tin badges and the like, they tell us that this year they "kept off political stuff entirely." College buttons and banners for football games? Fine. Favors for Halloween parties? Quite a lot of them. But politics? No. The days when the multitudes wore little tin dinner pails, Rough Rider hats, or Tammany Tigers, are gone forever, according to Ann Street, and Ann Street knows.

Elsie Ferguson will be back in town late this month in "The Wheel of Life," a new play, which will open out of town this week.

Here's another big responsibility put upon womankind. They must "bribe, cajole and tempt" the men of America to like music, declares Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra.

College "Frats" To Have Building

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—College fraternity men are the latest New Yorkers to turn cliff-dwellers.

The high price of lodgings, which has driven many families from private houses into apartment houses, has caused members of various fraternity clubs to seek a common roof.

To meet this need the Fraternity Clubs Building, a sixteen story structure is being erected at Madison Avenue and 38th Street.

Members of the various clubs, nearly all of them college graduates, will have their own private club quarters and sets of sleeping rooms, but while they may lounge and slumber under the Greek emblems of their own brotherhoods, they will eat and exercise in a communal dining hall and gymnasium.

The house committee will comprise a representative of each participating club. National headquarters of several fraternities will be located in the building.

Serving on the honorary board of the housing committee are Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War; Major-General Robert L. Bullard; T. Coleman DuPont; Byron P. Harrison; Will H. Hays, former Postmaster General; Secretary of State Hughes; Joseph E. Ransdell; Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires; Oscar W. Underwood and former Governor Charles S. Whitman.

take his salary in bonds of the new issue, also the contractor, who was expected to do the work has agreed to take a part of his pay in bonds. One group, whose names were withheld, agreed to take $1,000 worth of the bonds.

A movement was then started to organize committees, and it was generally agreed that the Commercial Club, the school board and members of the board of aldermen should form committees and proceed with selling the bonds in whatever way seemed best.

Little Dissertation on Gossip.

Western Paper—Gossip is a humming-bird with eagle wings and a voice like a foghorn. It can be heard from Dan to Beersheba and has caused more trouble than all the fleas, ticks, mosquitoes, coyotes, rattlesnakes, cyclones, earthquakes, blizzards, gout and indigestion that this United States has known or will know when the universe shuts up shop and begins the final inventory. In other words, it has got both war and hell backed up in a corner yelling for ice water.—Boston Transcript.

"Duty First" Said John Storey

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 18.—A demonstration of devotion to duty seldom equaled and never exceeded occurred at Kilby prison Friday. For many months friends of John Storey, Shelby County man, had been convinced that he should be relieved of further service on a 25-year sentence imposed by the Shelby circuit court for burglary. Some of Shelby County's best citizens were interested in the case and had appeared before the governor and board of pardons in the interest of Storey.

Governor Kilby had the case before him for many months and the parole was granted Friday morning. Two of Storey's Montgomery friends went to the prison with the parole, called Storey into the office and presented it to him.

"When will you be ready to go?" he was asked.

"It will take me about a half hour to get ready," replied Storey, "but I cannot leave the prison at this time. I am firing the boilers at the power plant of the prison and I cannot leave until some one is obtained to take my place."

And Storey returned to his work, a task which was assigned him by the convict department. At 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon Storey was relieved of his duties, another man was assigned the work, and Storey walked from the prison doors of Kilby a free man again.

Storey has always maintained that he was not guilty of the offenses which carried him to prison. Since he was incarcerated about eight years ago his wife and two children have died, leaving him only one son of the family which told him good-bye when he entered the prison doors.

To Consumers Of Motor Fuel

As consumers of motor fuel, you are entitled to know the facts about the present status of the gasoline market. And we believe that in our dealings with you we have convinced you that we "always lay our cards on the table," face up.

Another reduction in the retail market price of gasoline is in effect. Woco Pep Motor Fuel, however, will not be reduced in price for the reason that this is not a legitimate reduction at this time. We believe that as business men you will agree, when we set the facts before you.

Last winter, when the price of crude oil was $1.00 per barrel, with no premium, gasoline in the Southern territory did not retail for less than 21c per gallon. Today the posted price of crude oil is $1.25 per barrel, with 25 to 50 cents premium, making crude $1.50 to $1.75 per barrel.

We consider the decline now merely an attempt to "squeeze" the independent refiners and independent jobbers.

We are forced, therefore, to stand pat on the present legitimate market price of Woco Pep Motor Fuel until there is a material reduction at the refineries on gasoline.

Woco Pep customers have long since been convinced that Woco Pep is worth five cents more per gallon than any other motor fuel, but we have always asked only a legitimate price and shall continue to do so.

'Not Guilty' Verdict To Misuse Mail

(Associated Press.) PENSACOLA, Fla., Nov. 18.—A direct verdict of not guilty was returned in the federal court here today in the case of M. R. Cartwright, J. F. Goss, Leslie Perrine and C. E. Perrine, charged with conspiracy to use the mails to defraud in connection with the development of the sound of Valparaiso, Fla.

If It Could Be Done. It is not the man who can turn off nature's tap who is wanted, but the man who can turn it on. Too much rain is preferable to too little or none at all. An invention for producing rain when and where required would mean fabulous wealth to the world. It would create new empires in the Sahara and the vast salt wastes of western America, and it would make the center of Australia as fertile as Tasmania.

The Usual Conclusion. "Well, my dear," said the fond parent to his wife, "I haven't learned whether our boy will achieve success in the future, but I know one thing for sure. If he makes good, it will be because he had such excellent home training, and if he goes wrong, it will be the fault of the service. The Leatherneck.

Extravagance By Students Deplored

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Nov. 17.—Much criticism has been directed against the faculties of Cambridge and Oxford, as being responsible for the extravagant life lead by many of the undergraduates of the universities. The subject gained wide publicity recently when a student committed suicide because of financial difficulties.
Dr. Farnell, vice-chancellor of Oxford University, in his address at the opening of the fall semester, said he had to admit that complaints, occasionally lodged against undergraduates of extravagant living, were not altogether without foundation. He blamed the local shopkeepers for giving students credit, and urged that students be limited in the amount of money allowed them.

Dr. Farnell pointed out that the days of "Pendennis," when undergraduates were allowed to have parties in their rooms and to be without restrictions out of school hours, had gradually come to an end, and he said that nowadays cases of drinking among students were almost unknown.

John Nicholas Brown, with $20,000,000 and called "the richest youth in the world," has been awarded a scholarship at Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. Brown, who is a graduate student in the School of Arts and Sciences, can study for a year for nothing, despite his great wealth.

The Modern Baron Trenck

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily.)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 18.—William F. Feagin, state warden-general, late Friday denied that any guard or official of the state prison system had been discharged as a result of the escape of Roy Dickerson, notorious bank robber, from Kilby Prison Tuesday. Mr. Feagin said no action had been taken whatever against any person in connection with the escape and none would be taken until the investigation had been completed.

Reports became general in Montgomery that one person had been relieved of his duties, but the warden-general said the reports were incorrect.

Mr. Feagin has submitted to Governor Kilby the information which he gained as a result of the minute investigation conducted immediately after the report of Dickerson's disappearance had reached the convict department. The information consisted of statements made by the warden, guards, free persons employed in the construction of Kilby prison, and convicts.

The investigation has developed the fact to the satisfaction of Mr. Feagin that Dickerson was at breakfast with other prisoners Tuesday morning, that he went to the hospital about ten o'clock, where he obtained aspirin for a headache and that he was seen to leave the hospital shortly afterward. As he checked short at 12 o'clock Dickerson obtained his liberty between 10 and 12 o'clock.

Photographs of Dickerson, with Bertillon measurements and finger prints, have been sent broadcast over the nation, with the statement that the state will pay a reward of $4,000, the maximum allowed by law, for his recapture. The card also gave Dickerson's features and announced that finger prints of Dickerson could be found on file in many prisons throughout the country, including New York, Chicago and Sacramento, Cal.

A final search of Kilby prison was made Friday night in the hope that Dickerson had secreted himself in some section of the prison, but nothing developed from the search. Every nook of the prison had been inspected, but reports that convicts had lived in close quarters of other prisoners for as much as three weeks caused Mr. Feagin and J. L. Pittman, warden of Kilby prison, to order another inspection.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our deep appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and assistance during the sickness and death of our husband, father and brother. We also thank them for the beautiful floral, and the use of their cars. We close with the wish that when sorrow comes to their home, may they be surrounded as we have been with friends.

Will You Help The Needy Ones?

The Ladies' Benevolent Society of Albany-Decatur has cared for the poor of Albany and Decatur since boom days. The principal means of support being dues of members at 10 cents per month—$1.20 per year. Month after month, and year after year, committees from the organization have served these towns in which they live. The poor have been cared for, the sick ministered to, clothing provided for those who needed it, boys placed in the Industrial School, and girls in the Vocational School, or the State Training School. The project of a hospital was planned originally to care for the poor of the Twin Cities, and finally the dream became a reality and hundreds of charity cases have been relieved during the past six years.

In 1920 a membership campaign was inaugurated and members were added until the roll reached the number 400. But alas! When the next year's dues were collected, many seemed to have misunderstood the campaign—thinking it was intended to enlist members for only one year! However, the number enrolled at the present time is 180. Occasional donations from the Eastern Star and the Kiwanis Club and individuals help defray expenses. But why could not the average person in Albany-Decatur give the small sum of $1.20 a year to the needy? Every case is investigated before relief is given. This organization is the oldest in the Twin Cities, costing nothing to administer but the faithfulness of the Christian women. The Ladies' Benevolent Society has come to the end of its funds, with no money to pay last month's bills, and many calls for food, clothing, medicine and fuel. What are the good people of Albany-Decatur going to do about it?

The time for the usual Thanksgiving offering is nearly at hand. The school children will be expected to bring their offerings on Tuesday morning, Nov. 28, and distribution will be made from Malone's Garage. What are you going to add in the way of funds to maintain the work during the winter? There are widows and struggling women to supply with fuel—some are hard-working and able to keep the family in provisions, with a roof over their heads, but utterly unable to buy fuel and clothing to keep them warm.

The Benevolent Society Hospital has had a hard pull for the last six months, with the usual number of charity patients, but several unexpected donations have helped to meet expenses. However, every one knows the needs—more room, an elevator, a sterilizer and other things.

Will not the people of the Twin Cities awaken to the great needs of the Benevolent Society and its hospital? Surely only this appeal is needed to stir the hearts and consciences of many to alleviate the distress that is in our midst.

STYLES FOR MEN FOLLOW THE PRINCE

(Associated Press.)
LONDON, Nov. 18.—The male members of the royal family have for generations set the styles for masculine wear in England, and therefore indirectly for the entire world. This has never been more pronounced than at the present time, and the fashion makers watch with unwearied eye for the least change, or the appearance of a new style, in the royal garments.
It was the Prince of Wales who introduced the small checked bow tie, the colored collars and the fancy socks so popular a few years ago. Since the Prince first appeared wearing a morning coat, soft shirt, and turned over stiff collar, this has been the standard wear for the man-about-town. The Prince is in the habit of wearing his hat, particularly the silk variety, slightly tilted, and today old men and young men may be seen with headdress similarly arranged at any time of the day or night on the fashionable thoroughfares of the West End.

The latest contribution of the Prince to the fashionable world, however, is the dinner suit, or tuxedo, which has generally been avoided by the best dressed men as being too informal for formal occasions, and too formal for informal necessities. Few tuxedos have been worn in London in the past, as compared with their wide use in America, and they were rarely used for the theatre.

The Prince appeared in one at a dinner party before his trip to the Far East, and since that time the dinner jacket has made great inroads into the popularity of full dress attire.

His Royal Highness appeared a few weeks ago at a dinner dance attired in a dinner suit of black with a faint white stripe, vest of black silk trimmed with a fine white edge, and a black bow tie, also with a white edge. Now the latest dinner suits shown are of this cloth. The dandies of the West End appear at their favorite haunts dressed in the Prince of Wales' latest.

The coat for winter street wear for the coming season will be of heavy material, huge collar and probably belted, for the Prince appeared in such a coat at a recent gathering in Scotland.

Golf attire is not ignored by the royal family, and the newest outfit for the course is a knickerbocker suit of homespun, wool vest of bright colors, and checked cap. This is the attire worn by the Prince when he recently "played himself in" at St. Andrews.

It is to be noted also that the three other sons of the King follow the lead of their elder brother, and appear in public dressed to the most minute detail after his example.

When the late King Edward was Prince of Wales, he was generally known as the best dressed man in Europe and thousands of men imitated the least change of style which he affected. It was King Edward who brought the gray ascot hat into such wide use, and white spats and the derby hat owe their popularity to him.

So closely was King Edward followed in the matter of dress, it is said, that the style to wear the last button on the vest unbuttoned, so universal in London twenty years ago, started from the fact that once at a house party the King, who was then beginning to take on his corpulent build, unbuttoned the button for the sake

Red Cross Roll Is Most Successful

If the action of the business sections of the Twin Cities is prophetic of what will be done in all sections of Morgan County, the Red Cross roll call of this year by all means will be the most successful one since the war days, if not the most successful in the entire history of the organization in this section.

The campaigns on Bank Street and Second Avenue are now a thing of the past except for a few details, according to Messrs. Rahm and Clouton, chairmen for Albany and Decatur, respectively.

Girls Put Stars in Their Crowns.
The girls of the Albany High School added to the stars in their crowns by taking over two hundred new and old members for the organization on Second Avenue alone. Agreeable to their promise made to make a clean sweep of the job, the high school girls began bright and early yesterday and surprised the most optimistic. Five teams gained large results, and all of the teams worked faithfully. The two winning teams were composed of Misses Jervis, Buchanan and Dunnivant, and Misses Pride, Simrell and Graves. The team led by Miss Jervis annexed the most money for the Cross, but the one headed by Miss Pride list.

rolled up the longest subscription list.

Prizes will be awarded by Chairman Rahm to both of these teams, one will get silk hose and the other bonbons. Decision as to which team shall be awarded the hose and which the candy will be decided by lot Monday morning, when Mr. Rahm will make the presentations at the Albany High School.

Business Men Win on Bank Street.
The Bank Street contingent of the Red Cross workers of Decatur was composed exclusively of business men, according to the general chairman, J. W. Clouton. While no prizes were offered the men, they have gained the lasting gratitude of the friends of the Red Cross. Those making the canvass, according to reports made public this morning, were John White, W. E. Roper, A. A. Jones, H. R. Speake and J. H. Johnson. Mr. White stated that with a number yet to see, $150 was added to the Red Cross treasury by the work of yesterday.

of comfort. That was enough, however, and from that time on the last button was only an ornament.

Sheffield's Wonder Team Meets Foe
Of Sturdier Caliber, Albany Wins 7-6

Heralded as one of the greatest high school teams in North Alabama, Sheffield came here Friday the general favorite over Albany High, but great as Coach Webb's aggregation is, they met a sturdier foe in the Purple machine directed by Coach Dowdy and lost a hard fought contest 7 to 6. The point after touchdown was the margin by which the victory was earned.

Earned is the logical choice of words in that instance too. Often luck plays the more important role in the battle for points after touchdown, but Bowen's block of Standifer's otherwise perfect placement kick was a rare piece of football courage and ability. The little linesman smashed through the Sheffield defense and partially halted the ball on its flight. As it was, the kick struck the goal post. Holt's drop kick for the extra point sailed directly over the cross bars.

The game was marred by wrangling throughout. Sheffield started her interference well ahead of the runner and it was often the case they got too far ahead of him and became offside.

The Albany line was shot to pieces during practically all of the game. Handy was unable to start, but Lee who took his place, carved football history on the pages of time by his play. Perchance his light heretofore has been hidden, but it glows brightly now. Handy came into the fray at the beginning of the second half. Fennell was lost to the Purple and Gold after the first few minutes, retiring with a dislocated shoulder. Later Wilson was sent to the sidelines after his altercation with Arthur. Yet weakened by the loss of three regulars, the remaining few, aided by herculean efforts of the second stringers, fought back each threat the visitors made, except when Arthur crashed over after a disastrous penalty.

Each member of the backfield, called upon to play a stronger defensive game than they were accustomed to, came through in splendid shape. Offensively they answered every demand. With exception of one, Holt's punts were long, well protected and he was given time to place them.

Offensively the two teams were almost evenly matched. Sheffield made 8 first downs to Albany's 7, but Albany gained much yardage in the exchange of kicks.

The line-ups follow:
Sheffield. Albany.
Stonecipher. Le. Lee Phillips. Lt. Bowen
P. Brooks. Lg. Fennell
Standifer. C. Batten
H. Brooks. Rg. Wilton
Woodall. T. Speer
Saywell. R. Pepper
R. Arthur. q. McAfee
Lamb. Lhb. McAfee
T. Arthur. r.h.b. Holt
Ross. f.b. Tuck
Referee, Burleson; umpire, Nathan; head linesman, Nelson.

First Quarter.
Woodall kicked to Tuck. McAfee and Tuck hit the line for first down. Three more bucks failed and Holt kicked to Arthur, 25 yards. Lamb and T. Arthur gained 7 in two tries. Time out for Fennell. Dodd went in for Fennell. R. Arthur failed and Woodall kicked without return. Tuck and Holt swept ends for 9 yards and McAfee slipped through for first down. Sheffield was penalized 5 yards or offside. Two bucks and a pass to Pepper failed. Sheffield was penalized 15 yards or blocking the receiver, after he passed the line. McAfee was stopped, but a pass to Holt from Tuck netted 12 and took the ball to Sheffield's 15-yard line. McAfee crashed through for two. Holt, on the Albany shift play, made 2 more. McAfee hit the line for three and Tuck made it first down. Tuck, on a fake, went around his own right end for a touchdown. Holt kicked goal. Sheffield, 0; Albany, 7.

Second Quarter.
Batten kicked to Ross, who returned 20 yards as the quarter ended. Lamb hit the center of the line for 3, but Lee halted R. Arthur without gain. A pass to R. Arthur was good for 18 yards. T. Arthur went around end for 5. Lamb fumbled and Holt recovered. McAfee was stopped at the line, but Holt, on a fake, advanced 5. R. Arthur intercepted a pass. Ross slipped off tackle for 5 yards, but Sheffield was penalized 10 for offside. Ross gained 5 more. A pass was grounded and Sheffield again was penalized. Stonecipher was put out of the game for arguing with the referee. Harris took his place. A pass from Ross to R. Arthur netted 30. Bowen stopped R. Arthur. Batten tackled Ross for a 2-yard loss. A pass was blocked. R. Arthur, on a fake punt, made 10 yards. Wilson was put out of the game when he and Arthur clashed after the tackle. Price went in for Wilson. Tuck and Holt failed to gain and Holt punted across the field 45 yards without return. Ross swept end for 4. Bowen and Lee spilled Lamb without gain. Sheffield was penalized 5 yards as a pass was grounded. Woodall kicked to Holt, who weaved back 20 to the middle of the field. Here the half ended.

Third Quarter.
Handy went in for Dodd. Batten kicked off to Sheffield's 5-yard line to R. Arthur, who returned 20. Ross hit the line for a yard. Bowen smashed T. Arthur for a loss of the same yardage. Lamb went off tackle for 4. Woodall's punt netted 35. A pass from Tuck to Lee was good for 12, but Lee fumbled and Lamb recovered. Ross tried end with a 1-yard loss. R. Arthur went around his own right end for 8. T. Arthur hit the line for 1. R. Arthur made it first down. Ross swept end for 8. T. Arthur hit the line for first down. Lamb dived through the line for 5, but was held on the next attempt. Albany was penalized 10 yards to her own 5-yard line for roughness. T. Arthur on the first buck, went over. Bowen partially blocked Standifer's perfect kick for goal and Sheffield lost the point. Albany 7, Sheffield 6.

Woodall kicked to Speer, who returned 10. A layout pass to Handy failed. A pass from Pepper to Lee gained 8. Time out for T. Arthur, who tackled. On a fake Sheffield was offside and was penalized 5. A pass from Pepper to Handy advanced the ball 15 more, and a third to McAfee netted 8. A pass to Handy failed. McAfee hit the line for a short gain and then smashed it again for first down on Sheffield's 22-yard line.

Fourth Quarter.
On a fake, Handy fumbled and Harris recovered. R. Arthur ripped off 4 and Ross swept end for first down. Holt nabbed T. Arthur for a 2-yard loss. Ross' plunge was stopped by Pepper and a pass failed. Woodall kicked without return. Holt, on a fake, gained 6. Tuck's end run was stopped and a pass to Handy was grounded. Holt's punt was partially blocked, only going 15 yards.

T. Arthur and R. Arthur, in two end runs, made first down. Ross hit the line for a yard; but, Bowen stopped R. Arthur without advance. Ross made 2 around end. A pass was intercepted by McAfee on his own 15-yard line. McAfee lost a yard and Albany was penalized 5 yards for offside on an attempted pass to Tuck. McAfee hit the line for a yard and Holt punted 35 yards to Arthur. R. Arthur tried end for a yard. Standifer dropped back and attempted a placement kick which was blocked and McAfee recovered. Holt went around end for 5. Tuck hit the line for 2 and Holt kicked out of bounds in the middle of the field.

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD"
WITH THEODORE ROBERTS
PRINCESS MONDAY

Thousands and thousands of people want to see Theodore Roberts as a star. At last Paramount has been able to acquire a piece that fits this great character actor like a glove. At last we have a truly great special for the "Grand Old Man of the movies." Uncle Josh is a part he was born for. And at last—a production of America's greatest play that is worthy of its immortal story! For fifty years "The Old Homestead" has held a unique place in the hearts of the people. Now it is put on the screen with all its greatness magnified.

This play is known throughout the world as positively the greatest heart-interest drama ever written. No one can see it and withhold the tears.

And what the stage could never do—the screen can do. Things that can only be described on the stage are shown magnificently on the screen.

Scenes include the greatest cyclone ever staged, in which actually a whole town is blown away, only the Old Homestead standing secure. Other great scenes show Reuben's trip around the world—into China's secret dens and through a hundred adventures.

Human, spectacular, perennially appealing, "The Old Homestead" is a classic that will break records everywhere.—Adv.

THANKSGIVING GAME WILL BE STAGED BY
ALBANY-DECATUR

Enthusiasm for the Thanksgiving game scheduled to be played on the R. R. Y. M. C. A. field here, marked the progress of a meeting held last night at the Decatur High school building. The purpose of the meeting was stated by Prof. R. W. Cowart, after the naming of Prof. W. W. Benson, as chairman. Prof. Cowart, stated that in response to football fans of both cities, the meeting had been called to discuss ways and means for insuring a large crowd and full cooperation on the part of all interested in good clean sport. Both of the teams that are to line up in battle array Thanksgiving day at 2:30, were present and a number made short addresses.

Manager Ferro Himes, pledged the full cooperation of the Decatur team, and said that every effort would be made to draw out a large crowd for the great occasion.

Captain McAfee, of the Albany team spoke along the same lines as had Ferro Himes, and predicted a gentlemanly fair and square contest from start to finish.

Among the citizens present were: Professors W. C. Holly, F. D. Dowdy, of the Albany High school, Professor King of the Decatur High school, John McGee, R. T. Shepherd, B. L. Malone and Prof. Teal of South Albany, and E. M. Bloodworth, sport writer of the Albany-Decatur Daily.

Prof. Dowdy reminded his hearers that games, first of all were played to encourage sportsmanship, and ability in all lines, and that the mere winning of a contest was not the first consideration, and expressed the hope and belief that these considerations would be kept in mind not only by the players but by the spectators.

enables her to cut loose and act.

In the beginning of the story, for example, Miss Frederick is a smart society woman in New York and surrounded with all the evidences of wealth. Then the scene shifts to the West. She is married and her husband is an idler. His neglect and mistreatment and the humdrum existence she is compelled to live with him shatter her hopes, but she fights on. The production unfolds many big scenes, but the main climax comes when the wife, her heart torn and twisted by months of abuse, seizes a lash and whips her husband to the point of exhaustion while he is bound helpless by a rope swung over a rafter in the ceiling. And she thus punishes him because he has struck his little sister.

The foregoing episode is unquestionably one of the most powerful ever flashed upon a screen and it is notably developed. Not once does it become sordid. Not once is there shown bad taste. It is all rugged, close-to-the-soil life, with a woman triumphant.—Adv.

Congressional Medal of Honor.

The medal was instituted by a law approved July 12, 1862. It is authorized by congress and awarded for particular deeds of distinguished bravery in action. Congress did, however, on March 25, 1776, order a gold medal struck for General Washington. Before that was done a silver medal was voted, struck and presented to Lieutenant Colonel Fleury for his gallantry in the assault upon Stony Point, July 15, 1779.

ers themselves but by the sympathizers and spectators, when the game was called Thursday afternoon.

In their addresses, Holly, King and B. L. Malone, spoke similar sentiments.

Malone Against Squabbles and Arguments

In his address of some length, B. L. Malone said that every consideration demanded cooperation by the teams and the public for a big success Thanksgiving day. He declared that the large enrollments in the schools for the past few years, and the new buildings to go up in the near future, should remind the students and all concerned, anew, what a great responsibility rested upon the student bodies and teachers of the Twin Cities.

This speaker cautioned against squabbles and arguments and said that the spectators were unfavorably impressed, when any thing but clean class ball was played.

Prof. Benson Takes Practical View.
Professor Benson stated that the practical side of a ball game and a ball team should not be overlooked. He said full financial support should be accorded. He said the field should be roped off, if there was any disposition of the spectators to crowd on the field.

B. M. Bloodworth, who came in near the close of the meeting, agreed to do what he could to secure some crack football officials from Birmingham for the big game here, while he was down at the Magic City for the Auburn-Centre game. Tickets for the Twin City match will be put on sale this week.

Voice of the People

Dear Sir:

The park commission invites your best efforts on behalf of an appropriation by the legislature for a state memorial (on Alabama circle), three monuments and a bronze portrait statue heroic, size of Gen. John H. Forney in the Vicksburg National Military Park and in honor of the devotion, patriotism and heroic service of Alabama soldiers in the Vicksburg campaign and defense.

At the cost of the park funds the War Department placed in it bronze portraits of two Alabama officers; Lockett, Tracy; the commission secured as a gift to the park, a bronze portrait bust of Gen. Isham W. Garrott. Your active interest in the proposed appropriation will be appreciated.

Sincerely yours,
WM. T. RIGBY,
Chairman of Commission.
